THE TRAVELER.

The Malay Pirates.

It is certain that the commerce of Ethiopia is greatly embarrassed by the insidious nature of this people, and that their depredations have caused much suffering to the inhabitants of the country. They are said to be a wandering body of marauders, who prey upon the neighboring coasts and islands, and who are known to be extremely ferocious and cunning. They are described as being of a dark complexion, with black hair and eyes, and are said to be expert in the use of the bow and arrow. They are also reputed to be extremely skilful in the use of the sword. They are said to be very brave and to be willing to die for their country. They are said to be veryavaricious and are said to have a great fondness for gold and silver. They are said to be veryambitious and are said to be very eager to gain wealth. They are said to be veryprideful and are said to be very haughty. They are said to be veryproud and are said to be very conceited. They are said to be veryproud and are said to be very conceited. They are said to be veryproud and are said to be very conceited. They are said to be veryproud and are said to be very conceited. They are said to be veryproud and are said to be very conceited.